Kenwood Club Selected For Senior Ball

Jule Burnett And His "Royal Cavaliers" To Furnish The Music

Kenwood Country Club has been selected as the site for the annual Senior Ball, which is to take place on the evening of May 29. As the Ball has been held at the Maketewah Country Club for the past few years, this new spot is expected to be a welcome change.

The announcement comes after weeks of negotiations which saw contact with numerous prospective spots for this social highlight by the committee, composed of Martin Dumlér, chairman, James Moriarity, John Brockman, Jack Jeffre, Dan Steible, Jr., and Tom Schmidt.

Jule Burnett and his "Royal Cavaliers" will provide the dance rhythms. This orchestra has played in and around Cincinnati for a number of years, (having been featured at Arrowhead Inn and Swiss Gardens) and is at present working on melodies known to be preferred in collegiate circles.

In order to bring the Ball within the financial reach of every student, the price has been reduced to $2.25 per couple. This will be the lowest price charged for the annual affair since its inception. The reduction is consistent with the policy which has been formed and carried out by the Social Committee.

Tickets can be procured from any member of the committee.

Freshmen And Sophomores Elect New Presidents; Junior Class Re-elects Shaw

Shaw Is Unanimous Choice Of Juniors

Bucklew, Barrett, Jonke, And Sack Chosen For Council

Showing their appreciation for James Shaw's excellent work as Junior president, the Junior class unanimously selected him as their Senior president for next year. This election was exceedingly brief. Someone nominated Shaw, another closed nominations, and Shaw was elected with no opposition.

Shaw is one of the most active men on the campus. He won the 1935 Oratorical contest, is a member of football squad, of the debating team, Philopedian Society, Dante club, and the Mermaid Tavern.

After Shaw was elected, nominations were in order for Student Council representatives. Those nominated were Jonke, Barrett, Sack, Bucklew, Sigillo, Koch, Kiefer, and Davoran. From among these Sack, Bucklew, Barrett, and Jonke were elected by substantial majorities.

With the Student Council elections over the selection for Senior Social committee representative took place. From among the nominees, William Grogan received the largest number of votes with 21 ballots cast in his favor to the 15 of his nearest opponent, Russ Sweeney.

According to the results of the three class elections, Barrett will be the only member of next year's Council with more than one year of service.

Kelly Elected President By Freshmen Class

Jack Smith And Charles McEvoy Selected For Council

Decisively overcoming all opposition, Paul Kelly was elected president of the Sophomore Class of next year, at the elections Tuesday morning. He received 50 votes to 30 for his nearest competitor, Jack Smith. Kelly, a Cincinnati student, received his numerals for active service on the football squad and the number of votes he polled is evidence that he is popular with his class mates.

In the elections for Student Council, Jack Smith obtained number one position with 30 followers, while Charles McEvoy, Freshman President, took the second position with 29.

Tom Schmidt, George Elder, and Walter Moellering, Senior athletic stars, supervised the elections.

President Speaks In Wisconsin

Council Of Catholic Women Hear Father Burns

Rev. Dr. Dennis F. Burns, S. J., president of Xavier University, addressed the Wisconsin Council of Catholic Women at their 20th annual conference held in Beloit, Wisconsin, Wednesday and Thursday.

Father Burns spoke on "Stability in This Changing World," at the noon luncheon meeting held in the Hotel Sinton, Wednesday. "In the changes which God has introduced into the world, the ways of God to man," Father Burns said, "no real historian or philosopher will ignore two great outstanding facts, that is, that God has given man a nature which will never change, and that God has given man a supernatural religion that will never change."

"More explicitly, that man will always be essentially inferior to God and responsible to Him, essentially equal to all his fellow-men, and superior to irrational creatures; and that it will never be a work of supererogation for any man to worship God in the particular manner which he has prescribed in Christian Revelation."

Royalty Introduced For First Time

Pavillon Caprice Scene Of Frosh-Soph Affair

Miss Mary Louise Betts, Sophomore at Mt. St. Joseph College, will be the first queen of a Xavier Freshman-Sophomore Dance when she receives this honor tomorrow evening at the Pavillon Caprice of the Netherland Plaza Hotel. Miss Betts will be escorted by Leonard Griffith, president of the Sophomore Class.

This innovation was made by the committee in an effort to make the affair even more attractive. No announcement has been made as to whether there will be a coronation ceremony.

It is believed that tomorrow's Freshman-Sophomore dance will be the most enjoyable social function yet given by Xavier's two lower classes. The Pavillon Caprice, most modern of Cincinnati's night clubs, is one of the most beautiful in the Middle-West. No other university dance has been held in this ballroom.

Bill Henry and his eleven-piece orchestra will provide the music tomorrow evening. He has prepared the type of dance tunes most satisfactory to the college "dance-goers."

Vocal interpretations and novelties will be furnished by Miss Jane Trassler, popular Cincinnati singer.

Tickets for the dance can be secured from any member of the committee which includes Leonard Griffith, chairman, Charles McEvoy, Richard Blum, and William Ferguson, or may be secured at the Pavillon Caprice tomorrow evening. The price is $1.50 per couple. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

Hey thar Zeke! ... Polish off that thar rifle an' load her up good an' plinty ... No! taint revenuers around, ya fool ... It's HUNTIN' SEASON agin! You said it, granpappy ... Speakin' of freshmen—Massachusetts Institute of Technology is reputed to be the most expensive men's college in the U. Mary had a little lamb, it's fleece was white as snow; and everywhere that Mary went ... she took a street car ... Lately it was brought out that a sports writer on the Indiana U. Daily did not pick Red Grange for his All-American eleven after Red's sophomore year, explaining that all Red could do was run ... Yeah! an' all Shakespeare could do was write ... She was only a wrestling referee's daughter but she barred no holds ... not so good, eh gents ... unkul jimmi has it that our ole fred' the "blond Venus" Steible has another leading role in a local dramatic production ... sorta' reminds ya of a Hamlet Sand-

Little Albert of DePaul tells us that if all the football players were laid end to end, they would be in their usual playing positions ... uh-huh! ... probably would be at that ... and there was the railroad president's son who came to B. Psychologists at Western State College have discovered that a kiss, by causing extra palpitation of the heart, shortens the average life by three minutes ... that's probably what the catalogue meant when it said "Go to college and cease worrying about old age" ... Then too that may be the solution to the question which has baffled the world for generations, namely, "Why do genius' die young?" ... Did his poetry make Oscar Wilde? ... No, but it made Milton's "L'A leg grow" ... Books of the Month: "Hitch Your Shine To A Shoe", by U. R. Next; "The Dishonest Conductor", by Rob Nichols ... Said a senior boy to a freshman girl, "I'm like a ship at sea, for tests are near and I do fear that floundered I shall be" ... "Oh, no," said she, "the shore I'll be to rest your journey o'er" ... The silence fell and all was well; the ship had hugged the shore ... And here I have a little letter from a gurl in Cleveland: Dear Unkul Jimm: I'm a sick woman. For the past six months, I can't keep anything on my stomach. The doctor keeps coming up. I can't take anything more, not even your jokes ... (signed) Little Aubrey ... To you my listless lassie unkul jimmi replies ... Dear Aubrey: First, shoot your doctor (f you ain't got a gun, eat an apple every day), after that always have spinach for desert, the last course, the iron in it will weigh the others down, finally laugh and laff an' laff at my jokes, kause you know they ain't funnie, even if they are the best in the country.

Then there was the Scotchman who went crazy because he bought a scorecard at the ball game and neither team scored ... An' now for a bit of journalism ... our esteemed contemporary, the Cincinnati Times-Star, reports a 5000 copy increase on their last Saturday edition ... For Helen and Meilia had their pictures took; and these were seen by Hel-mick and Koch ... and so yer ole unkul jimmi rolls up his battered brief case and saddles little Paint fer tha' third last time (only two more issues) ... an' to his little ole faithful doggie at his side he says ... "Git tha h— outa' here; I'm tired and I wanna go ta bed." Sleep tight, me little Scotch lads and lassies. Move over, Zeke!

NOW LET'S

CONSIDER

By Vincent E. Smith

AMERICA'S LAMB

In view of the fact that the informal essay is yielding in the struggle for existence now going on among modern literary forms, one cannot fail to commend Agnes Repplier, not only because she has done much to prolong its life but also because she has used it to such an extent that she has become one of the most popular writers of the present century. There is no doubt that she is the foremost American essayist of the current era. Moreover, were it not for G. K. Chesterton, she would certainly enjoy a similar honor in all English speaking countries. In both the choice and the treatment of her topics, she is truly an author of surpassing caliber.

Outside of Edwin Markham, Miss Repplier is the oldest member of the American literati now living. Born in Philadelphia on April 1, 1858, she showed unusual talents since childhood, and before she entered the university, she had memorized many of the outstanding short poems of the English language. After studying at the College of the Sacred Heart, Torresdale, Pennsylvania, she began to submit stories to The Catholic World. But following the advice of the editor that her abilities were more adapted to the familiar essay, she began to write on diverse subjects of interest, finding that her articles were surprisingly salable. Since then, her writings have been prominent on the bookshelves of all discriminating persons in America and in England.

Perhaps her most notable contribution to America's literary treasury has been Books and Men, in which she deals with commonplace subjects in a philosophical manner, but always such that her lines are within the understanding of the average man and woman. With her searching intellect and sober outlook, she has found an endless line of subjects in the variety and invention of twentieth century civilization. Her style, also, is most inviting to the reader who glances at only the opening paragraph of any one of her essays.

She has also attained much success as a biographer, having written intriguing lives of Pere Marquette, Junipero Serra, and Mere Marie of Ursuline. In all these lives, she has focused the debt America owes to the Catholic Church, especially to the religious orders who were in the van of almost every expedition of colonial times.

But these latter books are only secondary factors contributing to her success. And if Charles Lamb deserves to be called the foremost essayist ever to live in England, surely Agnes Repplier deserves a similar title in the annals of American literature.

Next Week: Edith Wharton.

Louisville Beats Xavier On Court

Forced to play on asphalt courts because of recent rains, the Blue and White racquetballers of the University went down to a 5 to 1 defeat before the University of Louisville's vaunted tennis team in recent derby-week matches at Louisville.

Co-Captain Jack Jeffre supplied the lone victory with a crafty 6-4, 6-4, match over Williams.

Co-Captain Jim Dorsey bowed to George Schuhmann in the best match of the day by 0-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Schuhmann, one of the outstanding public parks players in Louisville, was forced the limit in gaining his victory.

In the other matches, Bill Imorde outstroked Kim Darragh by 6-1, 6-0.

Jeffre and Dorsey lost to Schuhmann and Williams in the first doubles match, while Imorde and Platt measured Darragh and Bucklew in the finale.

The next matches are scheduled with Butler University next Tuesday afternoon on the Xavier courts.

McGuinness Is Winner In Handball Tourney

Winner Well-Known In Handball Tourneys Sponsored by National Handball Association

The 1935 intramural handball tournament ended Monday when Ed "Mugs" McGuinness defeated Charles "Crip" Riley in straight sets of what developed into the hardest fought match of the year. The scores were 21 to 18, 21 to 19, and 21 to 17.

McGuinness is now a sophomore in the Philosophy class, having transferred to Xavier this year from St.

Edwards College of Austin, Texas. While at St. Edwards, Ed held the school handball championship, the Knights of Columbus title, and in addition was a ranking contestant in the Southwestern division of the national handball tournament.

Chuck Riley has reached the semi-finals in each of his four years of competition. Seeded as winner of the second bracket, Riley has this year come through in fine style and succumbed only to the greater experience of the veteran McGuinness.

The winner will receive a silver trophy donated by "Mike" Silverglade, local sportsman and owner of the Wheel Cafe.

"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND" ATHLETES SAY -

GENE SARAZEN, championship golfer, who has smoked Camels for years

The mild cigarette the athletes smoke is the mild cigarette for YOU!

A cigarette so mild you can smoke all you want—that's what athletes say about Camels. And when a champion talks about "condition"—"wind"—healthy nerves—real tobacco mildness—he's got to know.

Gene Sarazen says: "Playing as much as I do—I have to keep in condition. I smoke Camels steadily. They are so mild they never get my 'wind'—never upset my nerves."

Other athletes back him up.... "I smoke all the Camels I want, and keep in top condition," says Mel Ott, slugger of the New York Giants.... Georgia Coleman, Olympic diver, says: "Camels don't cut down on my 'wind.'"... Bill Miller, oarsman; Jim Lancaster, N. Y. U.'s 1934 basketball captain; John Skillman, pro squash racquets champion—hundreds of sports stars smoke Camels regularly and report that Camels never get their "wind" or nerves.

What this mildness means to you!... It means you can smoke Camels all you want! Athletes have made this discovery: Camel's costlier tobaccos are so mild, they can smoke all they please, without disturbing their "wind" or nerves.

CONDITION IS IMPORTANT TO YOU TOO—on vacation, in college, at home. You can keep "in condition," yet smoke all you please. Athletes say: "Camels never get your wind."

There is no need for a lot of whangdoodle talk about cigarettes
—just plain common-sense

When you stop to think about your cigarette—what it means to you—here's about the way you look at it—

Smoking a cigarette gives a lot of pleasure—it always has.

People have been smoking and enjoying tobacco in some form or another for over 400 years.

Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it.

In other words—you want it to Satisfy.

Scientific methods and ripe mild tobaccos make Chesterfield a milder and better-tasting cigarette. We believe you will enjoy them.
